MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET,

COR COMMERCIAL

San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture Syphilis in all its forms Seminal Weakness Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in getting out new remedies, and has returned with increased confidence for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgence, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their wasted emaciated, and disfigured faces and their sunken downcast conditions, unqualifying them for the pleasures of life—the enjoyment of life. It is horrid situation thousands suffer until death ends the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, direct those who are suffering with any of these ills, life-leading, life-destroying diseases to be cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are indeed in the welfare of their friends to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the name of worthless remedies from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make a strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those ignorant pretenders.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Weakness, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following melancholy results, which are combatted by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rushing of waters, dimness of sight, nervous fluttering, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, limited intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching opposite sex, an inclination to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath and offensive perspiration, nocturnal emissions and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treatment, which has never failed to effect a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of the above evils, should not neglect the sacred responsibility resting upon them, or delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written guarantee, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or makes no charge.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates dispensaries in unvary names, are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are ignorance and become too lazy to work at their trades, such as tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will shield you nothing, and may save you many regrets. As advertising physicians of high character (if such are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting boxes of worthless pretended patients' letters, certificates, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating carefully the nature of their disease, and the length of time they have continued. Medicines and instructions promptly forwarded, free from observation, to any part of the country. Advice in all cases, $5 per month. By inclosing Ten Dollars in a registered letter addressed to Wells Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the country. Communications strictly confidential.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultation FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN jy5d4p

WASHINGTON CITY

Decrease of Customs.

CHICAGO July 14—The Tribune's Washington special says confusion prevails at the head of the department in the matter of collecting the revenue during the past two years The year ending June 30 1873 the receipts were $188 170 000 the following year they fell off $ 000 000 and the total receipts this year show a still further falling off of $7 00 000 The cause of this is explained partially by the commissioner of customs upon the ground of the dull state of business throughout the country There is also a growing want of confidence in the integrity of customs officials, and consequent smuggling by the merchants, which are thus encouraged with impunity There will be presented to the next congress a proposition to make importers ex officio customs officers authorizing them to open suspicious packages and package but this proposition will carried will give such opportunity to tamper with manifests as to be unlikely to be received with favor

Prof. Marsh's Letter Makes a Flutter

WASHINGTON City July 14—The commissioner of Indian affairs makes the following statement with regard to the letter of Professor Marsh published this morning Some time ago Prof Marsh returned from a Western tour during which he visited the agency About the time of his return numerous complaints were received at the agency against certain of Red Cloud agency which involved the character of the supplies and the manner of the delivery Prof Marsh had in his papers all calculated apparently to affect the Indian office and the interior department Prof Marsh came to Washington called on me, and presented a pamphlet containing the charges against some of Red Cloud agency but which he had not verified personally He did not call upon the secretary of the interior nor did he communicate with him in writing in relation to the matter The secretary requested to see the President, and reiterated these general indefinite accusations To all these the secretary made no reply as nothing had been presented to him of definite character Shortly after the meeting the visit of the Sioux delegation to Washington in May last Professor Marsh made his appearance, and after remaining several days in the city without calling at the Indian office left for the west He was present at one of the Indian meetings introduced himself and asked the professor to call at his office The professor called and the secretary requested him to put in writing any grounds of complaint he might have against the Indian service at Red Cloud agency in order that he might examine and investigate This the professor declined to do but verbally he was informed he requested the board of Indian commissioners to appoint persons to investigate these vague and indefinite charges Thus matters stood until the session of which Colfax, Wilson and others selected a commission to investigate Prof Marsh's complaint When the persons thus selected were appointed the professor was notified by the commissioner of Indian affairs that the commission had very politely requested him to furnish the Indian office or the commission any information in his possession that he had to offer in support of certain charges which he might feel disposed to make The commission that has been appointed consists of ex Gov Hoyt Bent W Harris and Chas F Gunther and will proceed to investigate Prof Marsh's complaints This statement of facts is deemed due to Mr Saville Red Cloud agent to Prof Marsh himself and the Indian office.

The Chicago Custom House Investigation

WASHINGTON July 14—The statement that has been published that the famous plans of buildings from Chicago had submitted to the secretary of the treasury a report of the commission composed of local architects of Chicago is wholly incorrect. When requested by the mayor and council some weeks ago the secretary promptly directed the superintendent of buildings at Chicago to permit any board of architects appointed by the mayor to examine the plans submitted and adjudicating and he understands that such board was appointed and is now engaged in the work but if they have finished the work or agreed on the report they secretary knows nothing of it The report may possibly be made it is not believed the secretary of the treasury will change his order already given directing the supervising architect to suspend action and reserve the plans for future adjudication till the whole matter be referred to congress.

VERSAILLES July 14—In the assembly to day M Rouyer's bill against the practice of candidates to run with the view of withdrawing in favor of another in case of election of deputies within two days before the election was declared urgent. The motion was rejected—Yeas Nays

M Boulier continued The speaking began yesterday, attacking the right of the assembly to arbitrate, and citing upon merely documentary evidence all the cases in which the Left had been defeated He took occasion to declare on his own part and on account of his colleagues, the full confidence they had in the present ministry and to express their entire adhesion to the central power

M Lamy, a member of the left replied to M Boulier He said the report of the committee having branches in all departments of the country, was not exhaustive and that the committee had not examined the question of the right of the assembly to arbitrate He said the committee had not even engaged in the work but if they have finished the work or agreed on the report they secretary knows nothing of it The report may possibly be made it is not believed the secretary of the treasury will change his order already given directing the supervising architect to suspend action and reserve the plans for future adjudication till the whole matter be referred to congress.

M Pouyer Quertier defended that Bonapartists had tried to corrupt the army or had intrigued with Bismarck and Communists Under such circumstances he said Your object is to obtain a renewal of the vote overthrowing the Empire We will give you no pretext for such a step We will respect the republican constitution but the republic is the result of an ephemeral compromise of radicals and Orleanists The Legitimists center their hopes on a revision of the constitution Bonapartists express some right to hope

The Boston correspondent of the Advance says that Gen Butler and King Gambrinus were the two most noted personages in the Bunker Hill procession It thus describes them

The Philadelphia Times says that Joaquin Miller supposes that all the centennial preparations are to celebrate his return to America. Not so. You could not seen Butler and Fulton and Gambrino and curvetting that day at the head of the military escort, his hat off, bowing incessantly to every quarter of the compass like a figure in a barrel-organ, you could have fancied that this martyr Ben looked upon all the flags and the decorations, and the soldiers, and the distinguished guests, including the Grants, Shermans, and the Vice-President, and the peanut stands, and the balloons, and the crowds, as but a theatrical background for his favorite performance of Benvenuto Cellini.

The procession of Trades was four miles in length No feature in this was more noticeable than the heavy wagons laden with hops and malt and kegs and barrels of the great brewing firms In the center of these thronged high upon a huge cask sat King Gambrinus, in gorgeous robes, wearing his foaming tankard with unsalted hamnois perched beneath his seat

A DISAPPOINTED FISHMONGER—A negro fisherman caught a jewish weighing 140 pounds the other day and securing the game with a heavy line so that it could not enjoy the native element he sought a purchaser Two gentlemen examined the fish and offered him five dollars for the prize The negro wanted more. The bidders refused to come down Another man attracted by the little crowd that had gathered to view the fish approached the negro and offered him a sum in advance of the amount tendered by the first bidders Still the darkey held out he wanted his price or nothing While the question was under discussion a huge shark twelve feet long one of the largest seen in these waters of late gently took the jewfish's caudal appendage off from the body as though it had been done with a sharp knife Everybody looked on in amazement but the most astonished individual in the group was the fisherman who appeared much aggrieved when a laugh went around Turning to the last bidder he said gravely I believe you knowed dat shark was dere all de time

HOW TRAIN BOYS GET RICH—The train boys think they haven't much of an opportunity in this world, and other people think they are a nuisance One of them tells the New Orleans Picayune one way in which they impose upon their employers "You see," he says "each boy is furnished with just so much fruit so many books and papers, and he is either obliged to show them up at the end of the route or else turn over the money for which they must have been sold The only way it can be done is this We sell a book to a passenger for $1 00 He reads it and then we give him a new book worth 50 cents for the one he has read He is generally willing to make the exchange and reads the new one Then when he is willing to swap for a 10 cent paper which he leaves in the car when he gets out This paper we pick up and put back in our pile having all our books and papers and $1 50 That is about the only show we have without it we could not make a decent living

THE NEW IDEA IN BURIALS—A London letter says Mr Seymour Haden the eminent surgeon and etcher is continuing his crusade against wooden coffins with much spirit He has opened an exhibition of the wicker basket with open meshes, which he recommends for burial at the Duke of Sutherland's house and fashionable society has flocked to it as one of the great sights of the season There can be little doubt that Mr Haden is right as to the necessity of interposing as few obstacles as possible in the way of the natural resolution of the body into the earth but there is much room which public opinion is so rapidly educating for improvement in the present system of burial Mr Haden is not the first man of eminence who has pointed out the folly of placing the dead in a receptacle which is calculated to preserve them from decay for a long period of time and suppression of the newspaper discussions nor during the long period of silence and suppression which the scandal was discussed over advanced tea tables nor even fully and to the general satisfaction during the trial was Mr Beecher able to meet his censors with that audacious frankness and clear proof of freedom from damning complications which one naturally looks for in an innocent man charged with shameful crime It is no proof of guilt that he did not do this He knew the character of Tilton and his associates understood perhaps better than any of us how difficult it would be to prove the truth and he certainly had a right to seize every advantage which the law allowed him and manage the suit as if it was nothing more than a matter of money Considering the amazing folly and weakness of his previous action and the perplexities into which he had got himself by taking counsel of the heathen this may have been in the end the only prudent course for him to adopt Those however who feel that the reputation of a clergyman is the jewel of his life will regret that such a policy should have been judged necessary The controversy over Mr Beecher's sin has gone on as hotly as ever The newspapers which have taken advantage of this trial to vent their private spites and gurnse their personal quarrels by assailing the defendant and have rolled this eternal scandal under their foul tongues with diabolical relish, will be more vengeful than ever There is a large class of readers who always enjoy bad stories about other people, especially about ministers, and there are newspapers not ashamed to earn a dirty living by giving them all they seek for

But if Mr Beecher is neither convicted nor absolutely vindicated, there are some respects in which the trial has had a practical issue We have no doubt it has broken up that mischievous little coterie of transcendental fools of which Theodore Tilton was the effulgent center It has exposed to the world the hideous selfishness and essential immorality of those everlasting chatterboxes who have been busy poisoning the lyceum and the press with an idiotic travesty of philosophy, and dressing up lust in the robes of religion If it has torn away the veil which for many years has covered a certain class of subjects it has probably made inroads for this by turning out of the domestic circle a set of men and women who would have taught society that the family is only a relic of servitude and the home virtues are the fictions of superstition There is no place for these people any more in respectable houses And on the other side it has perhaps set afoot a much needed reform in Plymouth church We shall hear less henceforth of that horrible Gospel of Gush, which so much of the misery of this case is directly traceable We shall hear less of the rant about true inwardness and songs in the heart and all the other mushy emotions which with this new school of lusty masters usurp the place of the old fashioned virtues of faith hope and charity It will not be deemed the essence of religion to love somebody, and ladies and gentlemen we hope, will not go about kissing one another indecorously either in the name of the President or in any other style A great reaction against the Plymouth pattern of piety is inevitable and we shall not be surprised if Mr Beecher himself takes the lead in it He is undoubtedly a man of strong feelings of warm fancy and in a certain way of refined poetical perceptions which are the grandeur of old New England Now that President Grant, a non-professor brother Orville Grant, is post trader at Fort Peck near Sitting Bull's prowling ground, and at night prove to be an Orville mistaken piece of generosity

'A Mormon Wife' writing to the Salt Lake Herald, publishes the following awful threat: 'Mormon husbands beware! It is you who have had the buttered side of the slice, but do not take advantage too far, or we may reserve the nice soft part for our elves and give you the crust unbuttered." The desperately dark and dreadful Amanda certainly means to settle all Mormon husbands forevermore to be forced to give up the "buttered side of the slice" for the "unbuttered crust," is too horribly mysterious for contemplation

ROBERT DALE OWEN

THE END OF A NOBLE LIFE—HIS INSANITY—BIOGRAPHY

[From the Chicago Tribune July 24.]

A dispatch of this morning tells a sorrowful story Robert Dale Owen has become insane After a long life of earnest unselfish effort for the good of mankind, this terrible infliction comes The cause of it probably does not lie many months back When the heartless imposture of the Holmes mediums, the Philadelphia conspirators with Katie King's were exposed the shock to Mr Owen was tremendous He had accepted the pretended manifestations of these rascals with implicit faith His friend some time in Philadelphia in order to witness some of the seances The repeated exposures of 'Katie' were to him conclusive proof of immortality He pinned his faith in the life hereafter, in reunion with his father and his wife, on what spiritualism and especially upon what this pretended spirit, showed him Readers of his article in the Atlantic Monthly upon 'Katie King' will remember the syllogism which the good old man painfully constructed therein, by which he proved, to his own perfect satisfaction, that the visitor was indeed a disembodied bit of spiritualism The day before the article appeared the fraud was exposed Mr Owen wept bitterly, it is said when a conviction that he had been made the dupe of a tissue of lurid lies forced itself upon him He telegraphed to Boston to cut out the article, but it was too late. The magazine was already printed A thin slip of paper disclaiming any editorial responsibility and thus ruthlessly mercasing that of the author, was pinched to the sketch And thus it came to pass that Robert Dale Owen's syllogistic proof that Katie King' was a spirit and 'Katie's' own confession that she was a fraud were published together throughout the country The mind once so vigorous could not stand the blow that shook the faith of half a lifetime The insanity feared at that time has at last come The sun that rose in splendor sets in gloom

The life so sorrowfully ended—for insanity is death or worse than death—began in 1801, at New Lanark an industrial settlement near Glasgow Scotland, which was long a monument to the philanthropy of his father, Robert Owen The son's fame has never equaled that of the father but he has been even more self sacrificing to his efforts to benefit mankind When his father came to America in order to carry out his communistic dreams the son was his faithful assistant He edited the paper that served as the organ of the New Harmony colony When that brave, foolish experiment failed and the elder Owen returned to England to conduct like failures there to sow the seeds of co operation, labor leagues and church to found infant schools and to preach spiritualism Robert Dale remained in America He was by nature a politician of the old school the good old school, and he was soon in the Indiana legislature where he succeeded in emancipating women from the slavery of the common law then in progress and finally in the diplomatic service of the country President Pierce who sent Hawthorne to Liverpool and so indirectly endowed the world with The Marble Faun' and Our Old Home made Owen minister at Naples Since he retired from that position in 1858 he has been a student writer, amateur politician and professional philanthropist

Poor women! When they wear loose, ample skirts everybody condemns their extravagance Now that the pretty and graceful tucked back skirt comes in, the newspapers call it indecent Why, it's the prettiest thing in the way of dress since Eve left Eden, and what's the use of howling about it?

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 15, 1875.

SOMETHING TO BE DONE.

The sentiments of all the people of the United States, upon all questions of general policy and purpose, are so nearly alike that it is extremely difficult for the politicians of any party to frame platforms sufficiently at variance with those of any other party, to serve as ground for discussion. It is a fact often remarked of late that a Republican platform, without the ordinary clap-trap about the glorious principles and purposes of the Republican party, would be accepted as a sound Democratic platform, while a Democratic platform of the period, shorn of its praises of Democracy, would be a sound Republican platform. The leading Republican organ of this State has within a short time pronounced the Democratic platform of California sound, and declared the platform of the Democracy in one of the Western States, a declaration of republican principles. The candor displayed by a party organ, in conceding that there is really no issue between the parties except the issue of who shall have the offices, does credit to the editor of that paper, and this the more, inasmuch as it is the common course of the party organs to endeavor to impress their readers with the idea that there is some great matter at stake. And the same concession must be made from the standpoint of the Independent party. There is not a man in that party who is able to construct a platform for it to stand upon, presenting a single point of general policy which any other party will controvert, unless he would present some wild and impracticable idea which would be promptly repudiated by the people. The fact is, all parties now agree with each other quite as well as the members of any one party agree among themselves on every subject of importance that is, or is likely soon to be, before the country. The general policy of this government is settled, and will be carried out very much the same whether Democrats or Republicans or Independents have the reins in hand. No party would dare attempt to open up again any of the great questions that were settled by the war, or in connection therewith. The unity of the nation, and the equal rights of the colored citizen in all respects, are things that no political party will dare gainsay during this generation, at least.

But let it not be inferred there is no room for reform. There is a reform which all agree is needed, but which those in power are always slow to undertake. The expenses of government should be reduced. We pay entirely too much for being governed. This government is no doubt the best in the world, because it is [illegible] Abstract. It is almost, if not quite, the most expensive. A comparison of the actual expenses of the civil service of the United States will show that it costs far more in proportion to population than that of any other of the great nations of the earth. There is no need of this. There is no reason for it except that the extravagant and wasteful expenditure of the public money is a benefit to officials and contractors, and a very powerful aid in keeping "the party" in the ascendancy. Whoever, and whatever party, will take hold of the subject in earnest and weed out all unnecessary officers, all sinecures, all supernumeraries, and devise a way to stop the indecent and corrupt practice of using the civil service for partisan purposes, will be entitled to, and will receive, the lasting gratitude of the nation.

THE PRAYER-GAUGE IN COURT.

A few days since, we called attention to the proceedings of a certain religious sect in England called the "Peculiar People," who were just about putting Professor Tyndall's prayer-gauge to the test on a scale of sufficient magnitude to be worthy of attention. It appears they have already tested the matter in a single case, and the prayer-and-oil cure has not worked so satisfactorily as could be wished. A little son of one of the elders of the Peculiar people was attacked with pleurisy and inflammation of the lungs, and according to the rules of the sect, which allow no medical treatment, but trust wholly to the laying on of hands, and anointing with oil, &c., the elders of the church gathered around the little sufferer, laid their hands upon him with suitable invocations, anointed his body with oil, and prayed and sang over him. The facts were reported, and a prosecution was instituted against the father of the child for manslaughter. On the trial, physicians testified that if the child had been properly cared for and treated, it would undoubtedly have recovered, and the jury found the father guilty of manslaughter. They let him down as softly as possible, however, by adding to their verdict a statement that they believed he was acting as he thought for the best, according to his own religious notions, and that what he did was intended for the benefit of the child. The case has been appealed.

PICTURES SENT BY TELEGRAPH.

One of the greatest achievements of telegraphic reporting was performed by some of the New York newspapers in connection with the international rifle match. The readers of those papers, on the morning after the shooting, were presented with diagrams of the shooting, showing the exact position of every shot. The means by which this telegraphic transmission of the picture of the targets, with the bullet marks on them, was accomplished, will be readily understood on reading the following explanation of the way it was done. Photographs of the targets, as determined on, were obtained some time before the time for the match, and after being divided into small squares by drawing lines very close together all over their surfaces, both vertically and horizontally, and each of these minute squares being designated by a cypher word agreed on, were sent by mail to the papers engaged in the enterprise. Then during the contest at Dollymount, when a shot was fired, the cipher word answering to the square upon which it struck, was telegraphed, and a corresponding mark was made on the engraving in New York.

If it were lawful to dispute upon matters of taste we might feel inclined to criticise the letter of Professor Marsh to the President, relative to frauds perpetrated upon the Indians of the Red Cloud Agency. But he puts some shots in where they will do the most good. The whole country will believe what he says, not alone because the country is prepared to accept as true almost any statement that reflects upon the management of that particular department of the Administration, but also because Professor Marsh makes the charges in manner and form as if he understood himself and intended to substantiate them. The investigation will end in exposing a shameless system of fraud and rascality, or else it will show itself to be merely a kalsomining job.

The Utica Herald (Republican) says: The offense of the Vice President seems chiefly to be his demand that the Republican party shall pursue a policy that will harmonize and consolidate all the elements which formerly made up its invincible strength throughout the Union. In advocating that policy, the Vice President has struck the only one which can lead to another Republican victory in a national contest.

The Christian Union, Mr. Beecher's paper, says: The party throughout the country, if standing for friendship between North and South, for the rights of black citizens and white citizens alike, and for an honest currency, would, we believe, win a great victory, and what is more it would deserve it.

As will be seen by the report of the proceedings of the Republican State Central Committee, the Republican State Convention will be held at Salem August 14th.

The Baltimore Gazette, a leading Democratic organ, says the Democracy in the National Convention in 1876, will declare in favor of hard money.

The University of Michigan has conferred the degree of LL. D. upon George Ripley, the literary critic of the New York Tribune.

A cousin of Queen Victoria, Count Gleichin, has taken up sculpture as a trade.

THE CAMPAIGN OPENED

The Headquarters of both political parties have again by common consent been established at ISAAC BLUM'S Store, which he has elegantly refitted to meet the requirements of the occasion. This place has become the recognized resort of connoisseurs, who pride themselves on the fact that they smoke Blum's Cigars and pay for them.

This card is published for the information of strangers. It is therefore well for visitors from various parts of the State and abroad, as well as San Francisco drummers and such like, to bear this in mind and act accordingly.

Parties desiring Imported Havanas or Key West Cigars, by the box will please call before the present invoice is disposed of.

An unusually fine lot of special Domestic Brands on hand.

Notice of Democratic Meetings.

IN PURSUANCE OF THE RECOMMENDATION of the Democratic State Central Committee a Democratic County Convention is hereby called to meet at the city of Portland, Oregon, on the 24th inst. for the election of nine Delegates to the Democratic State Convention.

The Democrats of Multnomah County are requested to meet in their respective voting precincts on SATURDAY, the 17th inst. for the purpose of selecting Delegates to the County Convention. The Primary Meetings in the several precincts in the city of Portland and in East Portland will be held at the hour of 7½ P. M., and in the other precincts of the county at 4 P. M. of said day. In all organized precincts the precinct committees shall give notice of the place of meeting, and in the other precincts, or on default of Notice, the Primary Meetings will be held at the usual place of voting.

The representation in the County Convention is fixed on the basis of the vote cast for Hon. L. F. Grover for Governor at the last general election, giving one delegate for every twenty votes and fraction over ten, and that each precinct have at least one Delegate. The several precincts are entitled to the following representation, viz: Couch 5; East Portland 8; Fulton 1; Linnton 2; Milwaukie 2; Morrison 7; Multnomah 15 North Portland 9; North East Portland 2; Powell's Valley 1; Sandy 2; St. John 1; Sauvie's Island 1; South Portland 4; Weston 6; and Willamette 1.

It is recommended that each precinct organize by the election of a Precinct Committee of not less than three persons, and that such committeemen shall attend and supervise the election of Delegates according to the manner determined on by the Democrats of the respective precincts.

THURSDAY MORNING, JULY 15, 1875.

CITY.

LEG CRUSHED—AMPUTATED.—About five o'clock on Tuesday evening, an Englishman named Frank Rogerson, met with a very serious accident by which the amputation of one leg became necessary. Rogerson was engaged in chopping wood on what is known as "Kimber Hill," about five miles from the city, when the accident occurred. He chopped down about one foot and a half in diameter of a tree which, in its descent lodged between two other trees. In order to dislodge the tree and cause it to fall, Rogerson found it necessary to cut a portion of the two trees down. Just as he was giving the finishing strokes, the tree which was lodged, suddenly came down. Rogerson was not expecting it to fall so soon, and before he could get out of the way, it came down with a loud crash and caught his left leg. From the knee to the ankle the bones were crushed to fragments and the flesh terribly mangled. Soon after the accident, Rogerson was removed to his cabin, which was fortunately near at hand, and Dr. Alfred Kinney summoned. On arriving at the bedside of the wounded man, Dr. Kinney at a glance that there was no alternative but amputation of the limb. He told Rogerson that he could not possibly save his life but by amputating the mangled limb. Rogerson refused to allow the limb to be taken off, saying that he would rather die than hobble around on the remainder of his life on one leg. He finally reluctantly consented. Finding it difficult as well as hazardous to attempt to amputate the limb where Rogerson lay, Dr. Kinney, after placing the crushed limb in a splint of Paris mould, brought the wounded man in a spring wagon to this city, arriving here at 2 o'clock yesterday morning. The wounded man was removed at once to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, and the amputation performed yesterday by Dr. Kinney, assisted by Drs. Watkins and Cardwell. The limb was taken off at the knee joint, and the operation performed in a very skillful manner. Rogerson is doing well, and there is every prospect of a speedy recovery. He is about 35 years old and is a poor, laboring man. He is a deserving object of charity.

CORONER'S DUTIES OVERHAULED.—A man named Robert Kimber, who, several days ago, acted as steward on board the ship City of Agra, now lying at Astoria, was unceremoniously overhauled yesterday by constable Hendricks. Kimber had contracted sundry indebtednesses, aggregating the sum of $38 50, which he had failed to liquidate. Yesterday morning, at an early hour, Kimber went down to the O. S. N. Co.'s wharf, and stepped on board the steamer Emma Hayward, which was making fine. The first whistle had just blown and Kimber came on board. When unobserved, he lifted the hatchway and leaped into the hold of the boat, and drew the trap door down after him. Constable Morris soon followed on board, and was not long in discovering the whereabouts of Kimber. He drew aside the trap door, and after reading the writ to the prisoner, led him away to the county jail, where he is at present incarcerated. There is a strong probability of Kimber resisting the claims against him, in which case he will be set at liberty without delay, the offense charged being that of attempting to defraud the State with the object of defrauding his creditors.

THE TAHT.—Yesterday evening the Champoeg, the new steamboat constructed by the Willamette River Transportation Company, made her first trip. About 4 o'clock she left the foot of Alder street, where she has been receiving the finishing touches, and steamed up the river in handsome style. The Champoeg is a light draught boat, built by the company for plying on the Upper Willamette. She was constructed with express reference to carrying freight, and the passenger accommodations are consequently quite meagre. The Champoeg, for a light draught boat, makes good time, and promises to be one of the most useful and serviceable crafts owned by the company. After going some distance down the river, the Champoeg returned to the city. She is now fully ready for service.

THE MOONLIGHT EXCURSION.—At 7 P. M. today the large and commodious steamer Willamette Chief will leave the wharf, foot of Washington street, on an excursion under the auspices of the Taylor street M. E. Sunday school. It is proposed to go to Oregon City, laying a half hour at Oswego to view the process of smelting iron at the works there, and then after a short visit to Oregon City, leaving the falls, etc., to return to this city by moonlight at a reasonable hour, say 10 o'clock. A band of music has been engaged, and every thing done necessary to insure a pleasant evening. The picnics and excursions given by this school on many other occasions have always been successful and well managed. The pupils of the school are taken free, adults paying 50 cents.

LOOKING MINES NEWS.—If the following letter, received by a gentleman in this city, is to be credited, the Burnt river or El Dorado mining company of Baker county is paying richly. The letter is dated Malheur City, July 1st, and says: "The ditch was not turned up and the water turned in this year till about the 1st of July, owing to the hard winter and late thaw. But now it is in splendid shape. Twelve to fifteen hundred inches of water is sold to the miners daily; receipts from $200 to $250 per day. The mines are rich and extensive. The ditch will, in two or three years, pay off all its liabilities (to the tune of the Chicago notes). The ditch carries the water of Burnt river 100 miles into this mining region."

SURVEYING THE RIVER.—Mr. R. A. Habersham, who is connected with Gen. Michler's office, left on the Wallamet river this morning with a party of surveyors, consisting of twelve men. The party will ascend as far as Eugene City, and starting at that point commence a survey of the channel of the river and some branch streams. The intention is to very closely examine the channel from Eugene to Portland, so as to be able to judiciously expend the amount of the appropriation in the improvement of the river. Mr. Habersham will have charge of the work of surveying the channel. The party will be absent from the city some time.

FIREMEN'S ANNIVERSARY.—Two weeks from next Tuesday, the entire force of the Portland fire department and the Albany engine company, together with a large number of other visiting guests, will parade through the principal streets of the city to celebrate the twenty-second anniversary of the organization of Willamette Engine Co. No. 1. This company, which was the first organized on the Pacific coast north of San Francisco. Its old records bear the names of many of our leading citizens, such as W. S. Ladd, Henry Failing, C. H. Lewis, C. Schuyler, E. J. Northrup, and many of the influential men of the city.

GOING AHEAD.—Messrs. Anders & Rowe, it will be remembered, were engaged in the grocery business in Portland for several years, returned from Southern California a few days ago. These gentlemen went to California with the intention of engaging in business there. Like almost every other person who learned Oregon they were glad enough to come back again. A brief sojourn in the parched and arid districts of Southern California was sufficient to thoroughly disgust them with the country, and caused them to abundantly thank their lucky stars that Oregon is still ahead.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.—Owing to the continuance of the union meetings in this city, the lecture of Dr. Watts was withdrawn, and he did not speak last night. He has been invited and will speak in the Good Templars' Hall, in East Portland, this evening. He proposes to illustrate by charts the action of alcohol on the nervous system. He is a fluent speaker, and understands how to interest his hearers will be well entertained.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland, Oregon, July 14, 1875:

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH THIS EVENING.—The Sunday school, officers, teachers and pupils, are requested to meet in the vestry at 7 o'clock. The Thursday evening service will be resumed a quarter to eight o'clock.

DESTROYED BY FIRE.—Last Sunday night at 12 o'clock an alarm of fire was given at Vancouver, which was caused by the burning of one of the government barns at that place. The barn, a very large one, was nearly filled with hay, which was a total loss. About ten cords of wood, piled near the barn, was also burned. The wood had not been measured and received by the government, so the loss will fall upon the contractor delivering it. Col. Weeks has offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension of the incendiary.

APPOINTED ATTENDING SURGEON.—Dr. Alfred Kinney has received the appointment of attending surgeon at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital. Dr. Wm. B. Cardwell has been appointed assistant surgeon at the same institution.

BRIEF NOTES.

There is considerable travel seaward at present.

California grapes have just put in a modest appearance.

Not a single case disposed of in police court yesterday morning.

To-day the railroad dignitaries will probably start for the Sound.

Dispatches from up the Columbia state that the river is still falling.

Watermelons—from California, of course—have appeared in the market.

The John L. Stephens will sail for San Francisco this evening at 7 o'clock.

Independent State central committee will convene in this city to-morrow.

Sidewalks in many places are disordered, owing to the repairs in progress.

The steamship John L. Stephens brought 400 tons of assorted cargo to this port.

Strong indications of a welcome shower. All nature fairly gasps for a refreshing rain.

The person who lost a ticket for passage on the ocean steamer can find it at the postoffice.

Everybody having the spare change and leisure time is off for seaside and inland springs.

Dr. Watts will deliver a temperance lecture in Good Templars' Hall, at East Portland, this evening.

The railroad party did not reach this city last evening from up the Columbia until after 7 o'clock.

About 2 o'clock yesterday morning the steamship John L. Stephens arrived here from San Francisco.

Mrs. Gen. Howard, we regret to state, met with a severe fall a few days since. She is able to be about again.

The Pioneer base ball club will meet this evening at the office of John M. Geurin, Esq. Full attendance is desired.

An infant died while the John L. Stephens was on the way to this port. The body was brought to Astoria and buried.

Workmen are engaged in getting out the knees for Captain Buchanan's new boat. In a few days the keel will be laid.

The Willamette Chief is on the Astoria route again, after being brushed up, and looks bright, tidy and otherwise inviting to travelers.

Mr. W. G. Gilbert, the well known architect, is now in San Francisco. He left Oregon some weeks ago to accept of a proffered situation there.

Mr. James Liddy has sold his hack to the Oregon Transfer Co., and after a brief breathing spell at the seaside will drive it for that company.

Workmen are engaged in improving the Independent German school building at the corner of Ninth and Morrison streets, by making additions to the building, and repainting it inside.

After looking at the green-hued and sickly complexioned water now in Couch's lake, one need not wonder at fever and ague. Look carefully to your dirt, and deodorize is the way to evade it.

Pedestrians have to keep sharp lookout for their shins while traversing the streets after night. The improvement of sidewalks render the steps of the unwary nocturnal wanderer hazardous.

Mr. Amos Shockly, who was thrown from an express wagon some time ago and very severely injured, is able to appear again on the streets. His many friends will be gratified to learn of his convalescence.

C. E. DuBois has just received 300 centennial medals from Philadelphia, which are to be sold and the proceeds applied to the centennial fund. These medals are made of silver, and are of handsome design.

The San Francisco Figaro, of the 8th, says: "The Lingard party has been increased by another Miss Dunning. There is now a trio of beauties and the opportunity for any amount of clever and pretty things to be said concerning the three graces.

For some time the East Portland asylum has been supplied with water by means of a pump run by horse power, but a Hooker No. 4 steam pump, with boiler and other machinery, was lately received from San Francisco, and will be put up at the asylum for supplying the water for that institution.

POSTAL MATTERS.

Mails for the steamer close at 6:15 P. M.

Postal Agent Underwood and his deputy, J. B. Dexter, are in the city.

The postoffice will be removed to the new custom house. Time not fixed, but likely in less than two months.

A small printing press has been purchased by the route agents and will be kept in the postoffice for their use.

C. A. VanHouten, of the postoffice, has gone to Eugene City to recuperate, and Chas. Cole takes his place temporarily.

Postmaster-General Jewell has been making a tour of investigation among the Eastern postoffices, and many changes will result therefrom.

Mr. C. J. Mulkey fills the position of mail agent on the Oregon and California route vacant by the appointment of Mr. T. H. Cox to deputy postal agent.

Postmaster-General Jewell has officially ordered that the registration fee on a letter mailed from any postoffice within the United States, addressed to any other postoffice in the United States, or to a foreign country, be fixed on and after July 1st, 1875, at the uniform rate of ten cents in addition to regular letter postage, to be fully prepaid, with stamps affixed to such letter and canceled at the mailing office.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Several large tracts of excellent timber and farming lands are offered for sale by A. H. Johnson. See ad.

Ladies desiring something really elegant in the way of laces, should note Mrs. Higgins' advertisement and then consult that lady.

The scrubbing machine advertised by Brenner & Son's is immense, and will meet with a large sale, once its merits are demonstrated. It is a "Woman's Friend," certain.

Special meeting—Willamette Engine Co. No. 1 this (Thursday), evening, at 8 o'clock. Important business to be transacted, and a full attendance desired. J. K. MERCER, President.

CHROMOS FOR ALL.—An extensive stock of chromos has been opened in the store adjoining the postoffice by Mr. E. W. Ryan. These chromos were selected personally during a recent visit in the east, and will be offered at low prices. Call and examine.

Consumers acknowledge that the best collars made are the Elmwood and Warwick. If you have not tried them, do so now.

Genuine imported Vichy water and the delicious creme Polar soda water can only be had at Pfunder's German pharmacy, New Theatre block.

Why will you continue to pay big prices for Clothing while those well known dealers in that desirable article, BECK & WALDMAN, are offering such bargains. The dull times necessitates a great reduction and they propose to keep the public supplied at any sacrifice. Each steamer brings them new goods, and they sell from the entire stock at the reduced rates. Call while the opportunity to buy low is offered. Youths' clothing a specialty.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

Ladies who wish to have their own hair braided, made into switches, or worked up into any kind of ornamental work for use or preservation, will do well to call on or send to Mrs. LARSON, Morrison street, between Second and Third. She does all such work very neatly and upon reasonable terms. jeltdlm

BOARD OF TRADE.

The regular monthly meeting of the board of trade was held last evening at the rooms.

Hon. H. W. Corbett, president, in the chair, and Wm. Reid, Esq., secretary, present.

A quorum being present, the board was called to order at 8 o'clock.

Reading of the minutes followed, when the following

were read:

HON. H. W. CORBETT, President Board of Trade, Portland, Oregon—Sir: I beg leave to enclose to you a copy of telegram received a few moments ago from the chief of engineers, U. S. A. Yours respectfully,

N. MICHLER,
Maj. of Engineers, U. S. A.

To HON. W. H. BELKNAP, Secretary of War, Washington, D. C.: Wagon is highly important that the cut at St. Helens' bar, Columbia river, should be continued, and work prosecuted by the scraping process, recommended by Gen. Michler, during this present high water and strong current, in order that we may have the advantage of this cut for large grain ships to Portland early in the season. Water too high for dredger at present. Please telegraph your chief engineer at Portland to proceed with work immediately, as time is short.

H. W. CORBETT, President.

WM. REID, Secretary Board of Trade.

An answer was received, as follows:

To H. W. CORBETT and WM. REID, of the Board of Trade, Portland, Oregon: Major Michler is authorized by telegraph to-day to improve St. Helens' bar by scraping process, as recommended. W. H. BELKNAP,
Secretary of War.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25, 1875.

MAJ. N. MICHLER, Portland, Oregon—Your whole project for improvement of Lower Willamette and Lower Columbia from Portland to the sea, transmitted May 15th, is approved. You are authorized to hire tug and such other assistance as may be required.
(Signed) A. A. HUMPHREYS,
Chief of Engineers.

On motion the action of the secretary in the matter was approved by the board.

A lengthy communication in the form of a series of resolutions was read. The communication was directed to the lighthouse board, Washington City, and set forth at considerable length the necessity of establishing a light house at Tillamook Head. Owing to some inaccuracies in the communication it was referred to the committee on navigation.

The following communication was read:

U. S. ENGINEER'S OFFICE,
PORTLAND, Oregon, July 1, 1875.

MR. WM. REID, Secretary of the Board of Trade, Portland, Oregon—Sir: Desiring to close my official report for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1875, you will place me under obligations by informing this office of the amount of tonnage, to date, especially of grain and flour, exported from Oregon direct from this port, in ocean-bound steamers and sailing vessels, both to home and foreign ports. This information is necessary in connection with the improvements of the Wallamet and Columbia rivers from Portland to the sea, as my views in full have been requested as to the necessities and requirements of commerce at this locality. Condensed statements from the records of the Portland and Astoria custom houses would be desirable, so that they may be incorporated in my report. A very early reply is desirable, as it is necessary for my report to reach Washington City between the 15th and 20th of the month.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,
N. MICHLER,
Major of Engineers, U. S. A.

Mr. Reid, the secretary, stated that in compliance with the above request he had obtained the information desired, and forwarded the same to Gen. Michler.

On motion, the board approved of the action of the secretary.

RESOLUTION.

The following resolution was presented:

Resolved, That to enable the secretary to compile the board's first annual report of the shipping, trade and commerce of Oregon for the year ending 31st July, 1875, the collectors of customs, O. & C. R. R. Co., O. S. S. Co., O. S. N. Co., W. R. T. Co., and other freight companies be, and hereby are respectfully asked to favor the board with all statistical and general information necessary for the purposes referred to.

On motion, the resolution was adopted and the secretary was authorized to send a copy of the same to each of the companies mentioned, so as to enable them to furnish the desired information.

On motion the board adjourned.

THE COURTS.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT—DEADY, J.

WEDNESDAY, July 14, 1875.

Baines & Spitt vs. O. S. N. Co.; motion to strike the complaint from files, for want of verification, argued and submitted.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

At a meeting of the Republican State central committee, held in the city of Portland, on the 14th day of July, 1875, it was ordered that a Republican State convention be held in the city of Salem on the 11th day of August, 1875, at 2 o'clock, P. M., for the purpose of nominating a candidate for congress. The several counties are entitled to the following number of delegates, the basis being one for each county and one for every hundred votes cast or fraction over fifty for Hon. R. Williams at the June election, 1874, to-wit:

Baker	4	Lake	3
Benton	6	Linn	8
Clackamas	8	Marion	12
Clatsop	3	Multnomah	16
Columbia	2	Polk	5
Coos	2	Tillamook	2
Curry	2	Umatilla	3
Douglas	5	Union	3
Grant	3	Washington	5
Jackson	5	Wasco	3
Josephine	2	Yamhill	6
Lane	7
Total			117

The committee would recommend that primaries be held on July 31st, and the county conventions August 4th.

"DAILY IN THE TEMPLE."

MORNING MEETING.

About "one hundred and twenty were assembled in the upper room" of the Presbyterian church yesterday morning, for prayer and supplication. Rev. Dr. Lindsley addressed the audience from Colossians 2-6: "As ye have received Christ Jesus the Lord, so walk ye in Him." Inasmuch as all converts had received Christ Jesus (1) with faith both of the head and heart; (2) with a sense of their own utter unworthiness; (3) with fervent love for the brethren; (4) with a complete renunciation of every sin, whether of the flesh or spirit; (5) with an entire consecration of self, time, and all to Christ; (6) with profound conviction of the infinite worth of the human soul; and (7) with a firm and determined purpose to discharge every Christian duty, whether ordinary or extraordinary, so, in like manner, should they walk in Him—continue to live and grow up into Him in all things. The riveted attention of all present showed how well these words of practical truth were received, and demonstrated the meeting to be already a complete success.

Prayer followed in quick succession from W. Wadhams, L. M. Parrish, E. J. Northrup and others, who invoked the blessing of God upon the words spoken, on the meeting, and on the city. Then followed voluntary remarks confirmatory of the words spoken. Mr. B. urged young converts not to think that conversion ticketed them through to heaven—they must continue to work in the Spirit every day. Mr. M. compared conversion to the rescue of a drowning person by means of a rope extended to him from heights above the dark river in which he was sinking. Clinging to that rope saved him from drowning, but he must not consider himself free from the necessity of exertion until he stood on the heights above. So in some sense every convert must continue to climb higher up in spirituality and faith till he reached the heights of heaven. Mr. W. compared the convert to an engineer on the boat or locomotive. However perfect the machinery, however fair the start made, there would soon be a stop to all progress if the fire that made the steam was not kept up. So the young convert must use prayer as the fuel to keep the fire burning which is necessary to his forward movement in the divine life. Mr. J. spoke encouragingly of two cases: One a Roman Catholic, who had attended the night meetings quite regularly, and on the night previous was filled to overflowing with a sense of the Saviour's love; the other, a young lady, who, comparatively alone in the world, far from friends, had wisely made up her mind to seek a friend in Christ the mighty Saviour. Mr. I. thought there was a key to every man's heart, but only one, and had led him to his room for prayer, and hoped he would be saved.

The usual inquiry meeting followed.

MEETING AT NIGHT.

The number in attendance at the Taylor street M. E. church last night was still greater than on any previous night. Dr. Lindsley chose for his subject the narrative of the rich man and Lazarus. With true logic and great earnestness he brought out, as the lessons of the narrative, the following points: Life and its joys are uncertain; death is sure, and eternity is at hand; there is no pardon or restoration after death; the banishment of the wicked to hell is consistent with God's love to the human race; and, finally, that lost souls remember the lives they led on earth. Rev. J. Thompson, agent of the A. B. Society, followed with a clear and powerful exhortation, using several illustrations of great force and point. Very few left until a late hour—remaining to hold conference with the unconverted, and to encourage the penitent.

The music and singing, led by Prof. Shaffer and those associated with him, was very impressive and appropriate. To-night the usual prayer meetings will be held at the several churches.

A Revengeful Organ.

The stomach is a revengeful organ. If we assign it indigestible food, it not only refuses to perform its office, but inflicts upon us unspeakable tortures, such as those of indigestion, colic, cholera morbus, &c. Not content with giving us pain, it frequently inaugurates an excessive and wasting diarrhœa, called dysentery, which carries us to our graves. With a view to prevent these consequences, as soon as the stomach gives notice by premonitory twinges that its cargo is not to its liking, a wineglassful or two of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters should be swallowed. This admirable digestive cordial will promptly reconcile the refractory organ to its contents, and prevent any of those annoying and possibly fatal results which the presence of indigestible food in the stomach is liable to produce. The Bitters are also a superb tonic, re-tonative and appetizer.

How many have regretted that they did not take it in time! How easily they might have been spared the future misfortune! DR. WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY, a remedy of half a century's standing, cures coughs, colds, whooping-cough, and bronchitis.

IMPORTANT!—Indorsed by the Medical profession. Dr. WM. HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS cures Coughs, Colds, Consumption, and all diseases of the Throat and Chest. Dr. TOWNSLEY'S TOOTHACHE ANODYNE cures in one MINUTE.

FIVE MINUTES TOO LATE

Miss Maynard, at last goaded to desperation locked the door, put the key in her pocket and announced to her captives I will release you at 8 o'clock precisely and not before

The statement was received in stubborn silence, yet the good lady punished herself for the severe measure as she walked down to the village. Her belief, as chief of the Hopville academy was that girls require to be compressed within rigid rules of discipline both mentally and morally According to this standard, the Coppe sisters were very far indeed from the prescribed path

The teacher consulted her watch, and found that she had two hours at her disposal She went to take tea with the doctor's wife—an unusual dissipation—and full of the events of office in the discussion of cupcakes delicately flavored with sugar and nutmeg Inquiries commenced soon about the twins Two little maidens exactly alike in appearance christened respectively Lotty and Hatty Coppe had been brought to Hopville academy by an indulgent father six months before Miss Maynard most firm and well regulated of principals, had informed her world with unfeasible pride that the twin sisters had been reared in the Southwest, a vague region where they were supposed to have run wild that they were heiresses and that their parent an eccentric man, had recently purchased a large property in the vicinity of Hopville Very ignorant and wayward, Miss Maynard was expected to polish the new pupils to a state of decorous young ladyhood. She might as well have attempted to tame the golden eagle. They liked to drive, to row, to romp their small hands were toughened with balling they assumed gentlemanly attitudes by instinct. Alas that the silken pillow of heavy school bills promptly paid should have so many thorns!

The Misses Coppe had not been domiciled many weeks within the academy walls before that portion of the cream colored edifice in close proximity to their windows was discovered to have changed hue in the night These amateur artists having smuggled in a paint pot, had tried the effect of bronze-green in the moonlight Scarcely had they condoned this offense when they removed the key board of the best piano concealed it in a closet and gave as a lucid reason for the extraordinary step, that the music master would otherwise insist on a lesson, and they hated scales The loudness of screams augmented by insane two little brown heads were observed Hid together, scholars giggled in anticipation of rich results in the fields of mischief and Miss Maynard was grateful for the day that witnessed no fresh prank,

One night a timid new pupil presented herself in a state of shivering wakefulness at Miss Maynard's door as the clock struck twelve

"I am afraid, ma'am There's a noise in my room, whispered the new girl

"What nonsense" said the teacher, and went swiftly to the scene of disturbance

Profound silence ensued A candle burned dimly on the table Miss Maynard sat bolt upright, a picture of rigid incredulity, and the new pupil hovered timidly to the door Suddenly the whole chamber became permeated with unintelligible sound, which centred in the wall in a most peculiar grating grinding, morse Miss Maynard grew slightly pale the new pupil crept close to her side There was a fall of rubbish, then a ray of light streamed through a hole in the wall the end of some instrument was made visible rounding the aperture, and a little voice said, Hullos, Mary White! We brought an auger from home to bore holes like the prisoners in cells you know, and we've tried it on the ceiling only the plaster fell in on our eyes Now we have worked on your wall all study hour Here's some supper for you"

Miss Maynard stood by the hole like the proverbial cat while this guileless confession was made Ignorant of impending evil, the little voice went on while a boiled crab, a slice of plum cake, and a small torrent of caramels were propelled through the opening Miss Maynard smiled sarcastically, the new pupil blushed Dismay was pictured on the faces of those victims of misplaced confidence, the Coppe sisters next door, when the principal surprised them arranging a train of edibles before the tunnel in the wall

"I am simply ashamed of you, she said to the youthful sinners It is not enough that you have ruined the best piano and attempted to alter the house or that you make a trumpet of your hands to hail your coachman as if you were pilots without frightening us by fearful noises at night!"

It was not enough, for the day was not yet full On the very day of which we write, the twins had been placed at the blackboard to work out a problem The little maids were slow at figures but quick at caricature Lo! laughter bubbled impressively in the school room, and instead of the result and answer to the sum, Miss Maynard beheld herself sketched in chalk, every angle exaggerated her nose intensified, and her spectacles veritable goggles There are limits to human endurance The principal rose in her wrath and incarcerated the culprits—for Erkmann Chatrian are not more inseparable than were the twins in sharing praise or blame—and went to the doctor's tea party

The chamber of the heiresses was eminently characteristic A fishing rod stood in one corner a dog's collar lay on the floor the table boasted a mouse-trap tame, and several birds nests and on the wall was a chromo of famous "Lexington" Their conversation was apt to possess a masculine vigor

"I tell you what, I m not going to stand this sort of thing much longer" remarked Lotty twisting her blue cravat away

"Tom promised to come to the rescue hinted Hatty, darkly Wait until eight o'clock"

Perhaps the beauty of the season tantalized them A soft haze slept in the far horizon nuts dropped from the high trees squirrels ran nimbly to safer hiding places, the shot of the sportsman rang sharply on the ear The young captives longed to wander in search of aromatic-scented leaves, gorgeously dyed by Autumn, or follow the little river as it glanced from rock to rock, where their skates would later secure delicate embroidery on the polished ice surface.

"What's the use of school?" cried Lotty, impatiently

"We are treated shamefully In five minutes we will summon Tom" said Hatty

At eight o'clock Miss Maynard left the doctor's company As she passed the dressmaker's small white house that power in the community thrust her head out of the window, removed a pin from her mouth, and said

Miss Maynard, would you like your black silk made with a basque" Step in and see my new patterns"

The most sensible woman wavers under such circumstances Miss Maynard wavered and fell

"I must go home" she demurred

Only five minutes," coaxed the dressmaker

'Absorbed discussion over a fashion magazine was interrupted by a startling phenomenon in upper air All Hopville rushed forth to gaze at the heavens where a stream of golden fire was breaking in a spray of rambow balls A rocket had been sent off from the academy To dart out into the road seek on her pocket, for the key miss it and run wildly toward the doctor's house was the teacher's first impulse but even as she sped along the cry of "fire," ominous and terrible in the country echoed on her heart and her senses and a glow was plainly visible through the windows of the Coppe girls room The heiresses had certainly succeeded in setting the school on fire In this night mare of confusion and alarm Miss Maynard fell from one height of horror to another She had lost the key and they would be burned to death Every body helped her to search in mad haste and only occasioned hopeless entanglement The church bell was ringing, a crowd was surging along the road dragging that reluctant minister, a village engine and the doctor's guests were for the most part on their hands and knees groping under the tea-table for the missing article

Pshaw! the door will be burst open, said the doctor, arriving on the scene

He took Miss Maynard, faint with alarm, in his grip For the first time on record the doctor's horse shied at the engine bolted on a side road and deposited Miss Maynard in a ditch from which she was forced to climb across fields to the scene of the disaster Her heart died within her as she approached What was her joy when the gardener accosted her

I busted the door mum with an ax, and let out one of em but young gentleman was before me with the other

The young gentleman repeated Miss Maynard feebly

Tom Wa ker, playmate and impartial sweetheart of the twins since infancy then on a visit to their home had promised re cue from durance vile if a rocket was fired They had here tofore this extreme measure because Miss Maynard was five minutes too late on their dignity was effronted by being locked up In firing the rocket—most tragic signal of distress—they had also fired the curtains

Tom succeeded in lowering Hatty by means of the rope ladder of raiment while Lotty was forced to choose the brocade or be singed and from that moment the youthful affection bestowed on Hatty's favor

Miss Maynard beheld them depart from Hopville academy with deep resignation nor was she surprised by an invitation to the next year to the wedding of a seventeen year old bride and a groom of twenty

I shall be an old maid if Hatty marries Tom sobbed the other little damsel on that occasion

The local money market moves along in the usual grooves and there is no occasion for daily comment. The easy condition in the loan and discount lines before remarked is still observable and though there is nothing like a plethora the supply is rather above the current demand than short. This situation is a favorable one for the opening of the fall trade as it insures a freedom from any pressure to arise in consequence of the probable heavy requirements to move the crop of grain soon to be harvested The fact that the United States government has become a large buyer of silver at a time when Germany is a large seller and Mexico finds her market circumscribed by the success of United States trade dollars in supplanting Mexicans in China has naturally invited a large number of interested speculators to intrigue around the treasury in the view to influences the action of the treasury to their own profit Happily, the secretary is not to be influenced He holds firmly to the principle of buying American bullion for the manufacture of American coin and very of course protecting the interests of the government. These purchases thus far made amount to $10 350 000 delivered at the mint at San Francisco in Carson and in Philadelphia A large proportion of the bullion has been paid for in coin from the United States treasury at San Francisco as we have heretofore stated The purchases however will continue on a large scale beyond what can be met readily in gold This contingency under the watchful care of Dr Linderman director of the mint was foreseen and provided for in the law of January authorizing the silver purchases Under the provisions of the law the secretary of the treasury is required and authorized to cause to be coined at the mints of the United States silver coins of denominations of ten twenty five and fifty cents of standard value and to pay them out until the whole amount of fractional currency shall be redeemed. The amount outstanding is according to the reports of the department $45 000 000 But an immense amount has been counterfeited and which, in the torn, dirty defaced condition of the wretched paper, is impossible to distinguish and the amount to be redeemed may be very much larger Thus the law provides that 5 per cent. stock may be sold for gold at not less than par, the proceeds to be applied to the purchase of the silver The operation is of course the same as funding the fractions in a five per cent. stock.

California Wheat Crops and Tonnage.

The quantity of wheat and flour produced for export in the state of California in 1874 was 10 211 407 centals The best estimates of the highest authorities that is those whose business connections with every leading point in the State furnish them with the machinery for getting the most accurate results give the surplus for export this coming year at three fifths of that of the last year This would be 6 060 000 centals This, of course is what left from the crop after consumption for food seed distilling etc is provided for These items may be taken as follows Consumption 1 800 0 0 sacks distilling 400 000 sacks seed 500 000 sacks Total 2 700 000 sacks

The Alta say There is left over at the end of each year more or less in stock on hand which comes into the next year's export but on a year with another the result is like new There are annually put forward what purport to be estimates of crops by counties for which there are no sufficient data and which have only the effect of deception if they have any effect at all For instance at this date last year was put out such a table giving the acreage at 1 175 700 and the crop to be harvested between June 30 1874 and July 1 1875 at 21 151 864 centals This deducting the consumption for the year would leave 14 000 000 for export, whereas as above given the fact has been 10 000 or less than half the estimate Within a few days another estimate for the present crop coming in has been published giving the acreage at 1 274 700 and the product at 24 11 800 centals which would leave for export double what the best authorities allow The e seems to be no useful purpose served by making such wild and baseless estimates as these by guessing where there are no data and no experienced judgment

So it is in our State the estimates are never exactly correct and never right but we must take a sort of average from the various reports and come to an approximate conclusion at the best.

Another exchange from San Francisco says that during the past year there were over 300 vessels fixed for flour and wheat including a dozen or more sent in ballast to Portland to load At the beginning of the year rates ruled very high and many vessels were chartered to arrive from 60 to 90 days ahead of the time when they were expected to be due. Owing to the failure of the principal charterers many of these vessels were again put upon the market at largely reduced rates and others took cargo on account of ship A year ago we estimated the quantity of tonnage likely to be employed for the year just closed at 500 000 to 550 000 tons. The facts have borne out the estimate For the current year we think 700 000 tons will cover the wants of the market There is already in port at San Francisco under engagement and to come in the next six months some 300 000 tons of tonnage

A Liverpool dispatch of the 9th inst reports wheat as follows Floating cargoes turn dearer cargoes on passage firmer Mark Lane firmer No spring off coast 7s 6d No spring for shipment 40s 6d California off coast and English and French country markets firm Liverpool firmer California Club 9s 3d@9s 9d Calif red winter 9s 3d@9s 6d Red Western spring, 8s 9d@8s 10d Our advices of the 13th inst indicate a continuance of the firm feeling

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—There are no further developments in this cereal and but few lots have been in the market for a fortnight past Exporters who do not seem inclined to scramble have no present inducements to urge them on the market and millers generally seem to what is offered at the rates given by us heretofore. The Liverpool quotations for the 9th inst. were 9 2d@9s 3d for average California and 8s 10d@9s 3d for club

FLOUR—A reduction in the quotations should have been noted to day earlier some dealers having been willing to accept 5@7½ per bbl for small relea es from the mills but jobbers hold at $5 for some brand Good country brands $4 50 superfine $3 @

OATS—Receipts are not large and but little more than supply the local trade Quotations to day are 3c@3½ per pound

BARLEY—We hear of no transactions to establish prices and we quote nominally at 1½@1¾c per pound

CORN—Is quiet at $1 10 for choice

MILL FEED—There is still a fair demand to meet reduced demand We quote bran at $13@16 50 per ton shorts $20@— chops middlings etc $27 50@30 all the way from $30 with but little in market

HAY—A full supply in the market quotable at $10@11 per ton for fair to best timothy loose and $11 @ bale

POTATOES—The market is in full supply at 30c@$1 per bushel for new and 75c@$1 for old

ONIONS—There are but few lots in the market quotable at 2½@3c nominally

HIDES (DRIED)—There is a fair demand for fair lots either in sacks or kegs the latter preferred at 7c@8c Exports are limiting

BACON—Sides are held at our former quotations of 11@12c per lb and are in full supply shoulders are unchanged from 8@9c while the market is overstocked with Lams and quotations for common lots are 10@12c per lb though they must be a little extra to command the latter figure

LARD—Good Oregon made is worth 16c @ lb in kegs or tins and is in brisk demand

BUTTER—We quote fair to choice roll at 22½@25c per lb extra print for table use 30@35c common solid 19@20c.

EGGS—There is a tolerably fair supply and shipments are active Prices have advanced 12½@ 50 cents per dozen

CHICKENS—There is a fair supply but quotations for choice lots have advanced to $4 per dozen Common and spring are quotable at $3 @ $3 50 according to size and quality

BEEF CATTLE—Live cattle in fair condition are selling at 3½@4c gross on foot or dressed 7@8c.

HIDES AND PELTS—Prices for hides are still down in account of the many damaged lots reaching the market Undamaged are quoted at 6@7c for dry beef hides 5@6c for green cattle 8@10c for dry veal calf skins 6@7c for green calf skins each deacon skins each sheep skins each

WOOL—With no fresh receipts both from east of the mountains and the Willamette valley quotations are steady at 30@32c for the former and 34@36c for the latter of fair quality and condition

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral It has been known to the public about forty years by a long continued series of marvellous cures that have won for it a confidence in its virtues never equalled by any other medicine It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs Colds Consumption than can be made by medical skill Indeed the Cherry Pectoral has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness suffering and even life is saved by this timely protection The prudent should not neglect it and the wise will not, for it helps you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks

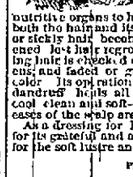
Ayer's Hair Vigor.

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY & COLOR



Advancing years sickness care disappointment and hereditary predisposition all turn the hair gray and either of them incline it to shed prematurely

After Half a Century of a long and extensive use has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately often restores the growth and always surely restores its color when faded or gray It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty Thus brassy weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened lost hair regrows with lively expression fall ing hair is checked and established thin hair thickened and falsehoods of hair restore their original color Its operation is safe and harmless. It cures dandruff heals all humors and keeps the scalp cool clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible

As a dressing for ladies hair, the Vigor is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.
